

A low-angle photograph of a dense forest. The foreground is dominated by a large, vibrant green fern with many small leaflets. The background shows a thick canopy of trees with sunlight filtering through, creating a dappled light effect. The sky is visible through the branches, appearing bright blue. The overall scene is lush and natural.

the
plein air plays